

Early Boston

The following photographs were taken by me while walking around the oldest section of Boston. These buildings go back to the colonial period prior to the American Revolution in 1776. It is amazing how these streets and building remain the same today.

The Old and The New

Cobble-Stone
Streets

Horse-Hitches,
Brick Roads and
Small Windows

This is now America's oldest known restaurant

This building was once a cargo warehouse
